Retail health clinics

RETAIL HEALTH
CLINIC

There's a place for that.

Need to see someone for a minor medical issue but your primary care doctor isn't available? Drop in to a retail health clinic. You can get a quick in-person evaluation and a prescription, if you need it, at one convenient location. These clinics, in some drug store chains, are close to where you live and work.

Physician assistants and certified nurse practitioners, overseen by a U.S. board-certified doctor, are there to treat minor illnesses, such as:

- Sore throat and cough
- Colds and flu
- Sinus infections
