

Feeling hot?
Eyes bloodshot?

Why wait?
There's a place
for that.

Urgent care centers

When your primary care doctor isn't available, walk in to an urgent care center for convenient, in-person care — even late at night and on weekends.

Urgent care centers have U.S. board-certified doctors, nurses and nurse practitioners who are ready to help. And you don't need an appointment.

At an urgent care center, you can get treatment for minor illnesses such as:

- Sore throat and cough
- Colds and flu
- Low-grade fever
- Mild allergy symptoms
- Painful urination

Why go to an urgent care center?

- No appointment necessary
- Evening and weekend hours
- Convenient locations
- Lab and X-rays, if available
