Eating and feeding disorder treatment centers

Members with feeding disorders — such as anorexia nervosa, binge eating disorder, bulimia nervosa, avoidant restrictive food intake disorder and other specific feeding disorders — may benefit from higher levels of care that specialize in the treatment of these disorders.

Treatment for members with feeding disorders may include a combination of an intensive outpatient program, partial hospitalization or residential care in a specialized psychiatric residential treatment facility.

Important:

- Check each member's eligibility and benefits to determine whether eating and feeding disorder treatment is a covered service. To do this, call the behavioral health number on the back of the member's Blue Cross or BCN member ID card.
- Providers must request prior authorization for some services, which requires submitting clinical documentation to meet medical necessity criteria.

To inquire about these services or schedule an assessment, members or providers can contact the provider partners listed below.
