

FEDFACTS

Federal Employee Program News

Key features to know about FEP Blue Focus

The FEP Blue Focus health plan provides broad coverage at reasonable costs. To get the most out of their plan, FEP Blue Focus members must be informed. They should know, for instance, that they have two free telehealth visits — a great way to get care when they're traveling or it's late. Members pay $10 per telehealth visit after the first two.

Members should also know they can earn incentives for accomplishing a simple task: Getting an annual checkup. They're eligible for a discounted meal kit delivery service subscription or a four-month gym membership among other health-related rewards.

And for the first 10 visits with a primary care doctor, the copayment is $10 per visit. The same goes for appointments to see specialists.

Other benefits with little or no cost include:

- Vaccines, screenings, tests and other preventive services: $0 copayment
- Urgent care centers: $25 copay

Here's what else to know about FEP Blue Focus.

The basics

When you have FEP Blue Focus health coverage, you don't need referrals to visit specialists. Your coverage also travels with you everywhere, even overseas.

However, it's important that members stay in network, which shouldn't prove challenging. More than 65,000 Preferred retail pharmacies, 96 percent of hospitals and 95 percent of doctors are in our network.

Filling your prescriptions

FEP Blue Focus's prescription benefit covers Preferred drugs. The amount members pay for a drug depends on the tier it's in:

- Tier 1 - Preferred generics: Up to $5 copay

Federal Employee Program.

FEDFACTS

Federal Employee Program News

- Tier 2 – Preferred brand name, Preferred generic specialty and Preferred brand name specialty: 40 percent of our allowance with a $350 maximum

For a deeper dive into FEP Blue Focus, browse this flyer or visit fepblue.org. Another good way for members to keep up with their plan is with the fepblue mobile app.

Federal Employee Program.

Blue Cross Blue Shield of Michigan is a nonprofit corporation and independent licensee of the Blue Cross and Blue Shield Association.