Coronavirus disease 2019, also known as COVID-19, is a respiratory illness that can spread from person to person. The virus that causes COVID-19 is a novel coronavirus that was first identified during an investigation into an outbreak in Wuhan, China, in December 2019.

COVID-19 is an infectious disease that the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, state and local health departments, as well as health care organizations across the world, are actively monitoring.

Current COVID-19 case count and statistics can be found here.

What are the symptoms of COVID-19?

COVID-19 symptoms range from asymptomatic to mild disease with nonspecific upper respiratory symptoms, such as fever and cough.

Most common symptoms are mild and begin gradually. These symptoms include:

- Fever
- Tiredness
- Dry cough
- Aches and pains

- Nasal congestion
- Runny nose
- Sore throat
- Diarrhea

Some people become infected but don't develop any symptoms and don't feel unwell.

Older people, and those with underlying medical problems, such as high blood pressure, heart problems or diabetes, are more likely to develop serious illness.

People with fever, cough and difficulty breathing should seek medical attention.

More severe cases progress to pneumonia, respiratory failure and septic shock.

People can help protect themselves from respiratory illness with everyday preventive actions

Social isolation. Avoid any close contact with people who are sick

Avoid touching your eyes, nose, and mouth with unwashed hands

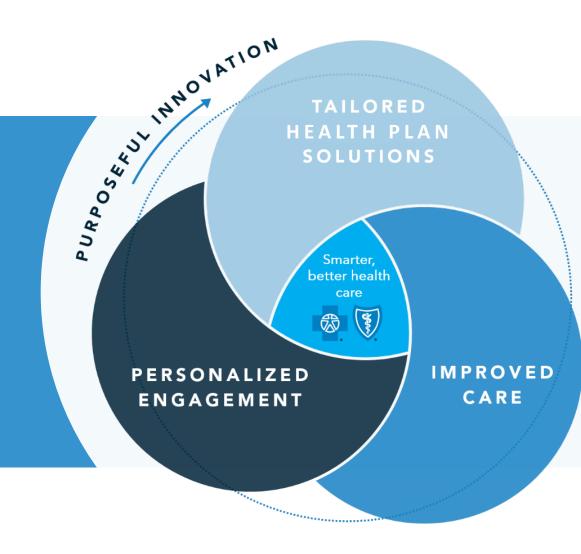

Wash your hands often with soap and water for at least 20 seconds

Use an alcohol-based hand sanitizer that contains at least 60% alcohol if soap and water aren't available

Our response to this pandemic

Pandemic Response

How COVID-19 testing works

If you're concerned you may need a coronavirus test, please keep the following in mind:

Start with your doctor

You'll need a doctor's recommendation or prescription to get tested. Once you have that, they'll direct you to a testing center. You can also use the COVID-19 Test Finder to locate a center near you – even if you live outside of Michigan. Be sure to bring any documentation from your doctor with you to the test site.

What you can expect from us

We stand behind you. Blue Cross is waiving all member copays, deductibles and coinsurance for COVID-19 testing. The lab tests must be physician-authorized, and testing and associated services must be consistent with CDC guidelines.

If you're diagnosed with COVID-19

We want you to stay focused on getting better. If you need treatment for COVID-19 symptoms between now and March 31, 2021, we'll take care of the cost. Treatment of symptoms can be on an inpatient or outpatient basis, from both innetwork and out-of-network providers.

The coverage applies to commercial PPO, Medicare Advantage PPO and HMO plans. For care that's not related to COVID-19 symptoms, regular benefits apply.

Understanding COVID-19 cost sharing

COVID-19 Testing Cost Share

- COVID-19 testing and all services that result in ordering or administration of a COVID-19 test
- Testing and associated services must be consistent with CDC guidelines
- Covers urgent care, physician services and hospitalization costs due to a COVID-19 diagnosis
- High deductible health plans included

Blue Cross Cost Sharing Effective Dates

- Feb. 4, 2020: COVID-19 lab testing (End date: to be determined, covered through duration of public emergency)
- March 16, 2020: Telehealth services (End date: June 30, 2020)
- March. 18, 2020:
  - Services related to the ordering or administering COVID-19 tests (End date: to be determined, covered through duration of public emergency)
  - COVID-19 treatment (End date: March 31, 2021)

Promoting the health of our senior members

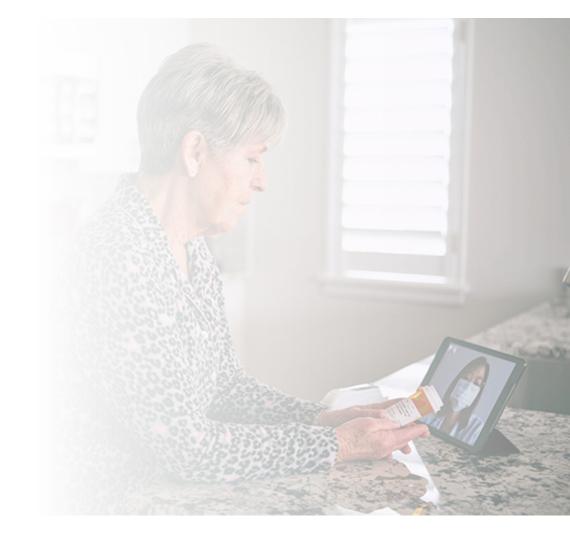

During this pandemic, Blue Cross is committed to the health of our Medicare Advantage members – one of the most vulnerable populations when it comes to both physical and emotional support.

To encourage vulnerable members to continue consulting with their physical and mental health professionals, Blue Cross and Blue Care Network are now waiving cost sharing for Medicare Advantage members through March 31, 2021, for primary care and behavioral health visits to doctors.

The initiative includes all individual, small and medium group, and UAW Trust Medicare Advantage members. Other large Medicare Advantage groups are in discussions as to what best serves their members.

Members who have Medicare Advantage plans with Blue Cross Blue Shield of Michigan or Blue Care Network will be assured of no copays, coinsurance or deductibles through March 31, 2021 for the following in-network services:

- In-person primary care services
- Behavioral health office visits
- Telehealth services for both medical and behavioral health.

Understanding costs for COVID-19 treatment

Throughout the pandemic BCBSM has identified over 20,000 commercial and Medicare members who have received some form of treatment related to COVID-19. While less than 6,000 of these members have had an inpatient admission, they account for the bulk of the claim costs associated with COVID-19 cases. Average costs per admission we've observed for inpatient treatment types:

NON-ICU

$18,800 Commercial and $12,000 Medicare

64% of commercial inpatient admissions and 74% of Medicare inpatient admissions

ICU or VENTILATION

$42,500 Commercial and $26,900 Medicare

29% of commercial inpatient admissions and 21% of Medicare inpatient admissions

ICU and VENTILATION

$74,300 Commercial and $39,700 Medicare

7% of commercial inpatient admissions and 6% of Medicare inpatient admissions

All estimates based on early analysis

Understanding costs for COVID-19 treatment

Expected short-term claim impacts due to COVID-19

Less than 0.7% of claims

Estimated cost increase resulting from waiver of member cost sharing features for telehealth and COVID-19 testing and treatment through June 30

Several percentage point drop

Estimated reduction in overall claims costs due to cancellation of elective services, closure of clinics and care avoidance during social isolation in response to COVID-19

Blue Cross will continue to model scenarios and provide updates as additional information emerges.

Understanding costs for COVID-19 treatment

Expected long-term claim impacts due to COVID-19

Full effects on 2020 and 2021 health spending are unknown and will depend on many factors.

- How many people contract COVID-19 and how many of them have severe symptoms requiring hospitalization
- Whether new treatments or preventive vaccines are found
- Whether health system supply constraints (the number of available hospital beds, availability of personal protective equipment, etc.) limit the access to treatment
- The extent to which elective visits, treatments and procedures are deferred or canceled
- The amount of deferred services that are subject to catch up/alternative timing

Blue Cross will continue to model scenarios and provide updates as additional information emerges.

Coverage extensions

We know our customers have a lot of questions about how to address temporary layoffs and furloughs. We want to make sure there is the least amount of disruption to your employees and encourage people to get the care they need.

We've instituted the following changes through December 31, 2020:

- We will allow extension of coverage for all group sizes to employees or retirees affected during temporary closures or temporarily laid off or have temporary reduced hours if premiums are paid. There is no need to submit additional paperwork for current members.
- Blue Cross will waive waiting periods for employees who are rehired after a furlough. Groups can re-add people through the usual membership processes. Groups may conduct special open enrollments to allow employees to select lower cost options (if offered).
- When laid-off or furloughed employees return to work, their contribution toward deductible will continue where they left off unless the rehire takes place in a new calendar/plan year.

COVID-19 spurs provider telehealth adoption

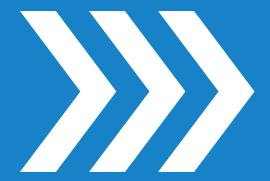

With COVID-19, the adoption rates by providers have increased exponentially, including adoption from behavioral health providers.

Based on a Blue Cross survey of Michigan providers:

9.5%

Percentage of providers using telehealth before COVID-19 pandemic

82.2%

Percentage of providers using telehealth after COVID-19 pandemic

Telehealth options

Blue Cross hopes to continue to ease the strain on doctors' offices and hospital emergency rooms due to the COVID-19 pandemic by supporting the use of "virtual" visits for patients with milder symptoms, while keeping the health and safety of members at the forefront.

Mental health resources for your employees

Loneliness is a tricky emotion to understand. Maybe you feel like you're lacking attachments you once had, or you're facing something new like an unfamiliar school, town, job or other life change. Perhaps you feel like you don't have anyone to share your feelings and experiences with. Or you feel unlovable - even if others don't think so - and aren't sure why. However it presents itself, loneliness creates powerful feelings of emptiness and isolation, but it's more common than you think.

Nearly half of Americans often feel alone or left out. Loneliness is not necessarily the same as being alone, though. We may be alone for long periods without feeling at all lonely. On the other hand, we may feel lonely in a familiar setting without really understanding why.

of American adults

Loneliness can be made more intense by what you tell yourself it means. Research suggests that people who think of loneliness as a defect tend to have difficulties taking social risks or initiating social contact, and are likely to approach social encounters with cynicism and mistrust.

However, loneliness is neither a permanent state nor "bad" in itself. Instead, look at it as a signal that some important needs are going unmet.

This could be a variety of things, but there are some ways you can try to kick that feeling.

- Get involved with a club, church, a part-time job or volunteer work that you're genuinely interested in, so you're more likely to meet people you have something in common with.
- Don't judge new people based on your past relationships. Instead, be open to seeing new people from a fresh perspective.
- Value all of your friendships and their unique characteristics rather than believing that only a romantic relationship can relieve
- Use your alone time to get to know yourself. Think of it as an opportunity to develop independence and to learn to take care of your own emotional needs. You can grow in important ways during time alone.
- Explore the possibility of doing things alone that you usually do with other people (like going to the movies or taking a vacation somewhere new)
- Don't decide ahead of time how you're going to feel about an activity. Keep an

No matter how bad you feel, loneliness will diminish or even disappear when you focus attention and energy on your needs and learning new ways to meet them. Don't wait for your feelings to get you going - get going and the good feelings will follow.

Addressing substance abuse

Substance abuse, specifically opioid use disorder, is a significant problem nationwide. Expanding treatment during times like these is crucial.

Treatments such as medication-assisted treatments show progress and lessen overdose deaths. Blue Cross is working to increase access to this important treatment through primary care offices and emergency departments.

To ensure continued access to treatments for substance abuse during the COVID-19 crisis, Blue Cross has taken additional steps:

- Telemedicine options
- No cost share for most in-person and telemedicine visits
- Medication-assisted therapy virtual visits

Also, Blue Cross has long worked with providers to deliver outpatient detoxification and treatment services. Now, to avoid potential COVID-19 exposure, these services will be available through telemedicine.

Members seeking help for substance use disorder can find providers participating in telehealth programs by calling the phone number on the back of their member I.D. card.

Help for individuals losing coverage

Across our economy, in businesses large and small, we are seeing workers displaced from their jobs and their health coverage due to the global pandemic. We are mindfully aware of the tenuous financial positions our customers are in and we will continue working with them to ensure they won't lose coverage throughout this crisis.

Blue Cross has put in place services to enable qualified individuals to continue their health coverage or transition from group coverage to an individual plan, potentially qualifying for federal subsidies to lower their premiums.

Individuals seeking help from Blue Cross can find it by calling 1-877-610-2583 or online at bcbsm.com/myblue. Blue Cross Medicare Advantage members should call 1-888-803-4960. BCN Medicare Advantage members should call 1-800-431-1059.

We are also are offering help and guidance to Michigan small businesses, creating a special support program for small businesses that may be forced by economic conditions to drop their health insurance coverage or lay off employees.

The program is available to small employers and their insurance agents by calling 1-866-582-5052 or at smallgroupCOVID19@bcbsm.com.

We will continue our partnership with large employers on ways to balance affordability and access for their employees.

Value Partnerships pandemic response

Our nationally recognized statewide collaboration of doctors and hospitals is a tremendous asset that we are increasingly utilizing during times like these.

Because this platform has been in place for more than a decade, we have been able to quickly assemble groups of statewide providers and give them a forum to share information and best practices in dealing with the pandemic. This includes information such as patient testing, lab operations and other protocols.

Within 48 hours of the pandemic's arrival in Michigan, Blue Cross responded by:

- Quickly increasing telehealth utilization, with a goal of HIPAA-compliant telehealth.
- Assessing provider communities needs related to testing, collection sites and billing policies to ensure capture of COVID-19 admissions.
- Working to secure personal protective equipment for providers in the hospital and community settings.
- Hosting a comprehensive webinar with over 300 participants representing providers across the state.
- Leading weekly meetings with key leaders in the provider community, Blue Cross executives, representatives from the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services and our contacts at the major private laboratories.
- Partnering with MDHHS to push key information from the state to the provider community on Blue Cross platforms.

Partnering with providers

We understand the resource and financial strain our provider partners are facing – from local family physicians to hospitals.

Blue Cross has the largest network of providers in the state, and we are working diligently to provide financial support, reduce burdens and keep providers informed and connected.

Blue Cross is accelerating incentive payments to Michigan-based physician organizations and practices to give the immediate financial means to purchase equipment and treat patients with COVID-19.

The accelerated funding is available to the more than 40 physician organizations that are a part of Blue Cross' Physician Group Incentive Program, including more than 20,000 primary care and specialist physicians throughout Michigan.

Partnerships built through this 15-year-old program improve quality, collect data and share information and are now being used to help providers adapt to the global pandemic. We are also extending deadlines to submit claims and providing financial incentives for providers to build telehealth capabilities.

MI-COVID19 Registry

Blue Cross Blue Shield of Michigan and 26 Michigan hospitals are collecting comprehensive clinical data on COVID-19 patients to be included in an extensive registry that will provide insight into best practices in treating patients with the virus.

By analyzing the registry data, participants of the MI-COVID19 initiative aim to identify factors associated with higher levels of critical COVID-19 illness and worse outcomes; identify patient characteristics and treatment regimens associated with improved outcomes; and understand long-term complications for hospitalized patients.

The type of information being collected for the MI-COVID19 clinical registry includes:

- Symptoms and conditions upon arrival
- Patient vital signs
- Medications used before and during hospitalization
- Medical history, including any concurrent conditions or diagnoses
- Imaging and lab test results
- Course of treatment
- Discharge information and 60-day post-discharge status

Blue Cross helping grow telehealth in Michigan

Blue Cross and the Blue Cross Blue Shield of Michigan Foundation have partnered with three other organizations to accelerate telehealth in Michigan.

Along with the Michigan Health Endowment Fund, the Ethel and James Flinn Foundation and the Metro Health Foundation, nearly $3 million has been awarded to Michigan-based organizations to expand telehealth opportunities.

The grants will help organizations implement new procedures, set up billing services, train or add staff, educate patients about telehealth, treat uninsured patients, and procure HIPAA-compliant licenses or equipment.

Examples of the funding at work:

The Ingham Community Health Centers will use the funding to establish a telehealth platform for the immediate need of supporting medical and behavioral health essential services through the COVID-19 pandemic. Over time, the infrastructure will be transitioned to support ongoing telehealth services to support chronic disease management for patients.

The Northwest Michigan Health Services, Inc. will receive funds to provide virtual medical, dental and behavioral health treatment to residents of all ages across seven counties.

The full list of grants can be found here.

The awards totaled $2.9 million and ranged from $25,000 to $50,000.

Addressing COVID-19 racial disparities

Bridget Hurd, vice president, Diversity and Inclusion at Blue Cross Blue Shield of Michigan, has been appointed to serve on a state task force investigating racial disparities related to COVID-19 outcomes in Michigan.

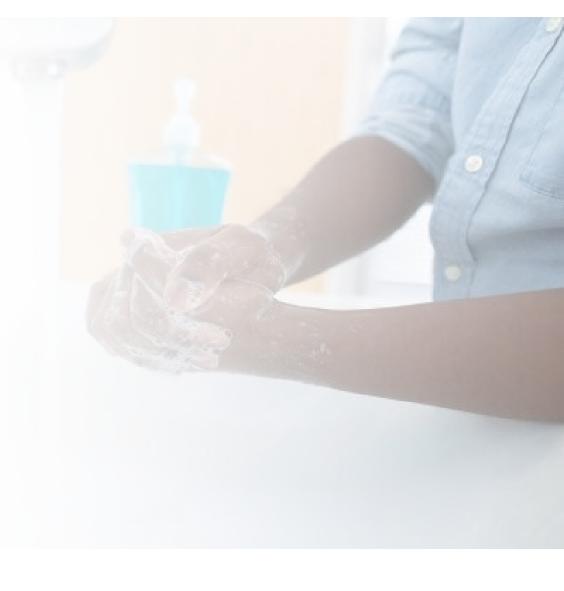

Appointed by Gov. Gretchen Whitmer, the task force will make recommendations that address transparent reporting data, reducing medical bias in testing and treatment and reducing barriers to physical and mental health care, among other items.

The task force was formed as a response to the way the COVID-19 pandemic has disproportionately impacted communities of color. African Americans represent 13.6% of Michigan's population, yet represent 40% of deaths from COVID-19.

"It is an honor to be appointed as a member of the Michigan Coronavirus Task Force on Racial Disparities," Hurd (pictured left) said. "It is a great opportunity to focus on the short- and long-term needs of underserved populations and address the health and health care disparities that have been around for a very long time. At Blue Cross, through our Health Disparities Action Team, we are also committed to addressing health and health care disparities and I am excited about the work that will reach our Michigan communities."

The group will be chaired by Lt. Gov. Garlin Gilchrist.

Blue Cross employees volunteer to work on the frontlines

Thirty-four Blue Cross enterprise employees — many of them nurses — have volunteered their services to help COVID-19 patients.

While assignments will vary, many Blue Cross volunteers are helping at the TCF Center's recently transformed exhibition space, which is now a temporary 1,000-bed field hospital for COVID-19 patients.

"Blue Cross supports those on the frontlines of managing this crisis and saving people's lives," said President and CEO Daniel J. Loepp. "There are certain things doctors need in an emergency — including more resources and medical help. Blue Cross is trying to help."

Daniel J. Loepp President and CEO Blue Cross Blue Shield of Michigan

"A great employer in the city of Detroit — Blue Cross — they told their employees if you have a health care background and you want to join the governor's call to action, we'll keep paying your salary and your benefits," Governor Gretchen Whitmer said.
"That's precisely the attitude we have to have. We've made it easier for people to join the front lines because we need to have all hands on deck."
